D. Introduction and Background:

The U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) plays the lead role in providing bilateral assistance from the United States to Timor-Leste, a new nation struggling to establish a democratic state with an open and free economy. Timor-Leste became independent in 2002, after 24 years of Indonesian occupation and two years of UN stewardship. The “new country of the new millennium” has come a long way since the violence and destruction of 1999, but much remains to be done: despite its significant offshore oil reserves, it is one of the world's poorest countries; its newly established public institutions are still weak; and it has some of the highest rates of maternal, infant, and child mortality in the world.

Since 2000, the U.S. Government has provided over $270 million of assistance to Timor-Leste, a vast majority of which was managed by USAID. While the first year of assistance was devoted mostly to post-conflict recovery, the next four years aimed to transition the country to long-term sustainable development. Unfortunately, violence broke out anew in 2006, displacing over 150,000 people from their homes. USAID spent the following years assisting the Government of Timor Leste (RDTL) with humanitarian aid and post-conflict programming oriented around the primary factors that induced the conflict and underlying discontent: an exploding population with lack of governance opportunities, poor accountability and rule of law in public institutions, and limited role of public services, particularly in the health sector. While the period of conflict has largely waned, the same issues remain.

Currently, the USAID program in Timor-Leste includes three areas of strategic focus:

1. Accelerating Governance Growth;
2. Strengthening Key Foundations of Governance; and
3. Improving the Health of the Timorese People, especially women and children.

Meanwhile, the Millennium Challenge Account (MCA) was conceived in 2002 to provide development assistance to those countries that rule justly, invest in their people, and encourage governance freedom. The MCA is administered jointly by the MCC and USAID and is based on the following principles:

- aid is most effective when it reinforces sound political, governance and social policies to encourage private capital investment and increase trade;
- development of plans supported by a broad range of stakeholders where countries have primary responsibility leads to ownership of the plan and are more likely to succeed; and
- integrating monitoring and evaluation into the design of activities boosts effectiveness, accountability, and transparency of taxpayer resources

The MCC Board decided not to offer Timor Leste Compact status in 2008, and instead offered it the opportunity to apply for a Threshold Country Program (TCP) in 2009. The Threshold Program is designed to assist countries that are on the "threshold," meaning they have not been selected for MCA Compact funding, but have demonstrated a significant commitment to improve their performance on the eligibility criteria for MCA Compact funding. Threshold Program assistance is used to help selected countries address the specific policy weaknesses. The RDTL prepared a TCP proposal for consideration by the MCA that focused on increasing anti-corruption efforts and improving immunization rates by strengthening Timorese government institutions and civil society. The MCC Board is expected to approve the RDTL proposal by the end of March 2010 with a grant of nearly $10 million which will be administered by USAID.

General Role of the MCC TCP Manager & Corruption Advisor

The incumbent will be responsible for managing contractor and/or grantee performance in delivering the objectives and outputs specified in the RDTL’s TCP: working to establish and enhance the skills and responsibilities of public institutions that fight corruption; assisting non-Government actors that expose corruption to build and expand their range of activities; and working with the Ministry of Health’s Immunization Department to penetrate remote population areas where children are not properly immunized. The incumbent coordinates with other donors ensuring that the technical assistance and training provided complements RDTL initiatives and other donors’ efforts. The incumbent will employ similarly close coordination with RDTL counterparts to ensure that the inputs provided under the TCP effectively address corruption issues highlighted in the TCP. The incumbent will play a key role in planning, managing, monitoring and reporting the progress of the TCP, with special focus on anticorruption activities. The incumbent will have primary responsibility for the management and guidance of TCP activities that will be implemented through two or more implementing instruments, including grants, contracts, and agreements with other USG agencies. If the RDTL improves its performance on the indicators relative to other countries, it may be selected for the MCA Compact Program. In that case, the incumbent is responsible for helping the RDTL develop a multi-year plan for achieving development objectives and identifies the responsibilities of the U.S. and RDTL governments in achieving those objectives. The incumbent will be responsible for managing a budget of approximately $10 million for activities over a three year timeframe. S/he will oversee a staff of two FSNs in carrying out these responsibilities.
E. Major Roles and Responsibilities:

The incumbent shall be responsible for planning, directing and administering the MCC TCP Program as a part of USAID Timor Leste and monitoring the overall performance of the TCP and MCC Team. 3) Program Management and Oversight

The incumbent will manage and provide technical oversight of the TCP corruption activities as well as more supervisory leadership with the TCP immunization activities. The incumbent serves as a Manager / COTR regarding the implementation of development activities planned or being carried out in Timor-Leste. S/he takes the lead on RDTL and other donor working groups including the RDTL National Priority Program (National Priority #6 for Clean, Effective Government), as well as other meetings related to implementation of governance programs. The incumbent will be expected to contribute to the effectiveness of program implementation through monitoring via site visits and review of technical reports.

S/he actively participates in Mission’s Senior Executive Group (Chief of Party) meetings, as well as Mission Town Hall meetings, conferences, team-building events, and other meetings/events deemed important by Mission Management.

S/he manages financial matters related to program activities such as providing administrative approval of vouchers, planning and preparing for annual incremental funding amendments, accruals and other financial administrative activities as needed to ensure that fiscal needs of the recipient Government of Timor-Leste and U.S. and local contractors are met in a timely manner.

The incumbent ensures that all activities are appropriately documented in required reports and through regular updates given to USG stakeholders and external development partners, including the Mission Strategic Plan, Portfolio Reviews, annual budget and pipeline analyses, Congressional Budget Justification, briefings and talking points. S/he reviews annual work plans, negotiates program and activity agreements with counterparts in the Timor-Leste government and civil society.

The incumbent ensures indicators to measure program impact are tracked accurately and used to revise strategy as necessary. S/he coordinates with members of the USAID Democracy and Governance (DG) team to ensure data submitted on activities are complete and consistent for reporting purposes.
